You are cordially invited to attend the tenth annual dinner of the Oxford and Cambridge Society of Ireland to be held at the Kildare Street & University Club, 17 St Stephen’s Green, Dublin 2 on Saturday 11th May, 2019

Speaker: Sir Stephen O’Rahilly

Black tie (university blazers are welcome!)       Drinks Reception at 7.00pm
                                              Dinner at 8.00pm

Price (including drinks) €95.00 or stg£80.00

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Booking Form and Payment

To reserve a place, please complete this form and send it by post to Mark Pery-Knox-Gore, Collierstown House, Bellewstown, Drogheda, Co. Meath or by email to m.pery-knox-gore@beauchamps.ie to arrive no later than 3rd May 2019. Places may not be reserved for guests who are not members of either university.

Payment may be made either by cheque enclosed with the booking form and made out to the Oxford & Cambridge Society of Ireland or by credit transfer in euro to AIB, Westmoreland St, Dublin; account name - Oxford & Cambridge Society of Ireland; account no. - 43680055; sort code – 933384; BIC/Swift Code - AIBKIE2D; IBAN - IE74AIBK93338443680055. If arranging a credit transfer, please make sure that you are identified to us as the transferor. This is important.

The Kildare St & University Club cannot cater for every dietary requirement but will do its best to help. Please tick the appropriate box below if you have any special dietary requirements:

- Vegetarian
- Other (please specify here) .........................................................

Name:.................................................................Email:.................................................................

Address:

........................................................................................................................................

College, University and Year of Matriculation:

........................................................................................................................................
Sir Stephen O’Rahilly, formerly research fellow of Green (now Green Templeton) College Oxford and now Professor of Clinical Biochemistry at Cambridge and fellow of Pembroke College.

Born in 1958 in north Dublin, where his father was a pharmacist, Sir Stephen O’Rahilly was at school in Beneavin College before taking his medical degree at University College Dublin. His stellar career in medical research, which has transformed understanding of the genetic causes of obesity, began at Oxford in the Nuffield department of medicine where he worked on diabetes and insulin resistance. After some years at Harvard he moved to Cambridge in 1991, where he became the major driving force behind the creation of the Institute of Metabolic Science. It is now one of Europe’s largest institutes for research and clinical care in metabolic disease. He was knighted by Queen Elizabeth for his services to medical research in 2013. He is a member of the Royal Irish Academy.